

19th Century Antique

An impressive 19th century Palladian style chimneypiece following a classic Jones/Kent design, in white statuary marble with Jasper frieze upheld by Sienna columns, fully exploiting the dramatic polychromatic effects of the coloured marbles on white. The moulded statuary shelf breaking and protruding over the frieze which is centred with an elongated panel of elegant Jasper of variegated colours which falls and drops on to architrave; this is flanked by Jasper side panels and protruding blockings. The white marble pilaster jambs are fronted by imposing monolithic columns of Sienna which sit on rounded socles and are surmounted by fluted composite caps. The whole raised on foot blocks.
