

19th Century Antique

An early 19th century Irish Sienna and statuary marble chimneypiece, made to celebrate a marriage and the conquering power of love. Circa 1810-1815. The reeded shelf and Sienna frieze centred with a tablet in statuary marble depicting Cupid, the Roman God of Love, riding a lion, symbolising Omnia vincit Amor (love conquers all). The end blockings with male and female portraits (bride and groom) framed by wreaths of flowering foliage.

Dimensions

Height 52in (132.1cm) width 65½in (165.4cm)

Internal height 42in (106.7cm) width 40in (101.6cm)

Footblock to footblock 57in (144.8cm)

Shelf depth 9½in (24.1cm)

Reference

N160